

Given their AVPU and their lack of a detectable pulse and respirations, you need to assume both James and Asa are severely hypothermic. Individually package both climbers in a hypothermia package for rapid transport. Contact Incident Command and request a helicopter evacuation to the nearest hospital.